

Experimental recording script (No. 11000 - 11274)

What is this? - this document is an experimental Arpasing recording script consisting of 275 phrases that are random combinations of the 2000 most frequently used words in English¹. Each line includes exactly 6 syllables.

Does it perform better than the original 220-line script? - the performance largely depends on the quality of the recorded voice, which in turns (partially) depends on the ease of pronunciation. The purpose of designing this phrase-based script is to reduce recording efforts. Whether or not it will work yet has to be tested.

Do I have to read through the whole script? - no. The first 95 lines are expected to make it sound as good as the original 220-line script (No. 00000 - 00219). It is also expected that the more you record, the better it will sound, if the recording quality doesn't degrade towards the end due to human fatigue.

Can I use it right now? - please wait. This is still a draft.

What should I do then? - the author invites users of UTAU and Arpasing to proofread and comment on this document. In particular, the phoneme transcription may not be correct for some words.
